International Markets Roundup

NEW YORK [Morningstar with AAP]: The benchmark S&P 500 has touched a record high and equalled its longest ever bull-market run, as US stocks rose on earnings reports in the consumer sector and relative calm in the trade dispute between the United States and China.

The S&P rose as much as 0.6 per cent to a record intraday high of 2,873.23 points on Tuesday, topping its previous record high of 2,872.87 on January 26, though it closed below both those marks.

The index's bull-market run is now 3,452 days old and on Wednesday would become the longest such streak in history, at least for some market watchers.

Trade-sensitive industrial stocks rose for the fourth consecutive session as investors remained optimistic that the United States and China could move closer to settling their trade dispute. The S&P 500 industrial index rose 0.8 per cent.

The S&P consumer discretionary index climbed 0.9 per cent as shares of off-price retailer TJX Companies rose on strong results and Toll Brothers' encouraging quarterly report boosted shares of homebuilders.

"We've got good momentum, which is fundamentally justified by the strong economy and better earnings," said Kevin Caron, senior portfolio manager at Washington Crossing Advisors in Florham Park, New Jersey.

"Investors still seem relatively optimistic about growth, and you're seeing that expressed in the market today."

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 63.6 points, or 0.25 per cent, to 25,822.29, the S&P 500 gained 5.91 points, or 0.21 per cent, to 2,862.96 and the Nasdaq Composite added 38.17 points, or 0.49 per cent, to 7,859.17.

The small-cap Russell 2000 index, which is less affected by global tariff disputes than its large-cap peers, ended the session up 1.1 per cent at a record closing high.

The S&P 500 energy index rose 0.5 per cent and the S&P 500 materials index gained 0.4 per cent, in tandem with higher prices for oil and metals.

Helping commodity prices was a drop in the dollar after President Donald Trump said he was "not thrilled" with the Federal Reserve for raising rates and that the central bank should do more to help him boost the economy.

The criticism came ahead of the release of the Fed's minutes of its August policy meeting on Wednesday, which is expected to reaffirm its confidence in the US economy and its commitment to future rate hikes.

Toll Brothers shares jumped 13.8 per cent after the homebuilder reported better-than-expected quarterly results. Shares of its industry peers PulteGroup, Lennar and D.R. Horton also rose between 3.8 per cent and 5.5 per cent.

TJX shares climbed 4.7 per cent, ending the session at a record closing high, after the retailer topped quarterly comparable-store sales estimates and raised its full-year earnings forecast.

But shares of Coty tumbled 7.1 per cent after the beauty products maker missed sales estimates for the first time in six quarters.

Advancing issues outnumbered declining ones on the NYSE by a 1.88-to-1 ratio; on Nasdaq, a 2.32-to-1 ratio favoured advancers.

The S&P 500 posted 43 new 52-week highs and no new lows; the Nasdaq Composite recorded 164 new highs and 32 new lows.

Volume on US exchanges was 5.86 billion shares, compared with the 6.49 billion average over the last 20 trading days.

Local Markets Are Expected to Open Lower

Ahead of the local open SPI futures were 19 points lower at 6,240.

Tuesday 21 August - close [Morningstar with AAP]: Australian shares fell back on Tuesday, with falls for BHP and the broader mining sector and a retreat in banks and consumer stocks weighing on the market.

The benchmark S&P/ASX200 index was down 60.6 points, or 0.96 per cent, at 6,284.4 points AEST, while the All Ordinaries was down 52.1 points, or 0.81 per cent, at 6,383.0 points.

The benchmark index slipped back below 6,300 points after two days above that mark as global miner BHP posted a writedown-driven 37 per cent drop in full-year profit to $US3.7 billion ($5.1 billion).

BHP's underlying profit for the company rose 33 per cent to $US8.93 billion, missing analyst expectations for profit of around $9.1 billion and a record final dividend of 63 US cents wasn't enough to please investors.

Shares in the group dropped 62 cents, or 1.9 per cent, to $32.55, while the broader mining sector was also lower.

Also reporting on Tuesday, Super Retail Group surged 75 cents, or 8.2 per cent, to $9.86 after it reported a 26 per cent jump in annual profit to $128.3 million.

Packaging giant Amcor fell 52 cents, or 3.6 per cent, to $13.76 despite a 21 per cent jump in full-year profit to $US724 million and an optimistic outlook saying tough trading conditions were starting to ease.

Banks lost ground, with Westpac leading the retreat, slipping 2.1 per cent to $29.50 while its other big four compatriots posted losses between 0.9 per cent at 1.2 per cent, dragging the broader market down.

Energy stocks also traded lower a day after the Australian government stepped back from legislating a commitment to Paris treaty emissions reductions in its signature energy policy.

Australian politics was in uproar as Prime Minister Malcolm on Tuesday faced down a party room challenge from immigration minister Peter Dutton, who subsequently resigned his post and moved to the parliamentary backbenches.

The failed challenge sets the scene for a repeat effort, casting further uncertainty over federal politics.

The Australian dollar rose against the US greenback in line with other global currencies after US president Donald Trump signalled his displeasure with the US Federal Reserve's rate-hiking tendencies, sending the US dollar lower.

The Aussie was trading at 73.51 US cents at 1700 AEST, up from 73.03 US cents on Monday.

ON THE ASX:

The benchmark S&P/ASX200 closed down 60.6 points, or 0.96 per cent, at 6,284.4 points

The All Ordinaries was down 52.1 points, or 0.81 per cent, at 6,383.0 points.

The NZX 50 added 6.62 points (0.07%) to 9,115.78 while the Nikkei gained 20.73 points (0.09%) at the time of writing, to be closed at 22219.73.

Asaleo Care Limited (AHY) - Cost Pressure Weighs on Asaleo's Earnings, While Balance Sheet Pressure See Dividends Suspended

Analyst Note-Fiscal 2018 is shaping up to be a challenging year for Asaleo Care, with interim net profit tumbling by almost 40% to AUD 18 million. While the result is soft, at the current pace, the firm is tracking broadly in line with guidance and our full-year expectations. The primary headwinds the company is facing are the higher pulp and energy costs (two of its major expense lines), along with market share losses in feminine care, baby care, and consumer tissue. While Asaleo achieved price increases, passing through the higher input costs, its competitors have not followed suit, and consequently the company has ceded substantial market share in the consumer tissue category.

We maintain our AUD 0.65 per share fair value estimate and our no-moat rating. Despite the recent share price drop, we see further downside risk at the current market quote. In our opinion, the cost pressures, intensive competitive pressure, and constant battles with key customers are likely to persist for the foreseeable future. Additionally, the board did not declare an interim dividend, which is consistent with our expectations, and we believe will be unlikely to pay a final dividend either, given the current state of the balance sheet.

Ancor Limited (AMC) - Weak Volumes Affect Narrow-Moat Ancor in Fiscal 2018; FVE Reduced to AUD 14.60

Analyst Note-Weak volumes led to a softer-than-expected result for narrow-moat Ancor in fiscal 2018. Operating income of about USD 1 billion was 11% below our expectations, owing largely to the North American beverage business unit, which was hurt by soft demand due to a wet start to the North American summer. Beverage volumes were accordingly 5% lower than the prior year. While we expect volume growth to resume in fiscal 2019, we reduce our fair estimate by 6% to AUD 14.60, reflecting weaker North American beverage volumes and softer expectations for emerging-market volume growth following a transfer of analyst.

Rigid segment sales fell 3.1% to USD 2.8 billion, primarily due to lower North America beverage volumes. Volumes compared unfavourably with our expectations for modest volume growth of 1.6% in fiscal 2018. Unfavourable mix shift accompanied the falling volumes, with higher-margin Hot-Fill PET volumes falling 9% year-on-year and outpacing the total decline in segment volumes. We do not expect this to repeat in fiscal 2019, with the wet conditions prevailing in the 2018 North American summer unlikely to recur and drag on segment results. We expect segment volume growth to revert to 1.6%, with segment sales growing 5.7%, largely reflecting the passing on of raw material cost inflation.

Flexibles segment sales climbed 4.9% to USD 6.5 billion in fiscal 2018, in line with our expectations. Currency translation delivered all of the benefit, however, with sales falling 0.1% on a constant-currency basis. As such, our expectations for volume growth of 2.7% in fiscal 2018 did not come to fruition. Segment EBIT margins were 12.8%, down slightly on the prior year but still ahead of our expectations for 12.5%. For fiscal 2019, we expect a resumption of flexibles volume growth to 2.6% in fiscal 2019. Together with resin price inflation of 4.1%, which we expect to be fully passed on in fiscal 2019, we anticipate sales growth of 6.2%.

FlexiGroup Limited (FXL) - Flexigroup's FVE Increases on Its Turnaround Starting to Gain Traction

Analyst Note-We are more confident in no-moat Flexigroup's turnaround following better-than-expected fiscal 2018 earnings and an improved outlook. This prompts a material increase in its fair value estimate to AUD 2.65 per share, from AUD 1.90. The company's fiscal 2018 underlying net profit after tax, or NPAT, of AUD 88.2 million was at the top end of its guidance and better than our forecast of AUD 85.6 million. The firm's investments in the past few years in digitising, simplifying, and optimising its business are beginning to gain traction, supporting an upgrade in our underlying NPAT forecast in fiscal 2019 to AUD 96.4 million from AUD 89.6 million, within the company's new guidance of AUD 95 million-AUD 100 million. The company also declared a final dividend of AUD 3.85 cents per share, resulting in a full-year fully franked dividend of AUD 7.7 cents. At our fair value estimate, the company is trading on a fiscal 2019 P/E of 10.3 times and a dividend yield of 3.4%. It screens as undervalued but with a high uncertainty rating.

We were concerned about the progress of Flexigroup's turnaround following the recent surprise departure of Symon Brewis-Weston as its CEO, just at the point when the company's recent investments were expected to bear fruit. However, the company's strong earnings update, including its stronger balance sheet, has alleviated these concerns. We expect most of the company's segments to support stronger earnings growth in fiscal 2019, including its Australian and New Zealand card business, Australian commercial leasing, and the Certegy business. The reduction in corporate debt was another feature of the results, with its gearing; corporate debt as a percentage of equity excluding intangible assets, continuing to decrease to 36% at year-end fiscal 2018, from an uncomfortably high 67% at year-end fiscal 2016. We expect the company to continue focusing on progressively reducing its corporate debt, forecasting gearing of about 10% by the end of fiscal 2023.

Healthscope Limited (HSO) - Healthscope Takes Knife to Hospital Portfolio and Unveils Unlisted Property Trust Strategy

Analyst Note-Narrow moat Healthscope's full-year results contained myriad nonrecurring items, reflecting a year of restructuring and remedial action across the hospital portfolio. Despite a stronger second half, the company's net profit after tax of AUD 151.2 million on group revenue of roughly AUD 2.3 billion, down 10.3% and up 3.7% year on year, respectively, trailed our forecast for AUD 181 million and AUD 2.4 billion after adjusting for the recent divestment of Asian pathology assets. The main factor was the weaker-than-expected margin performance in the hospital division, which posted a fiscal EBITDA margin of 16.4%, compared with our forecast of 17.8%, given the impact of case mix variability and wage indexation.

Healthscope also announced it will establish a new unlisted property trust to hold the majority of freehold hospital property assets on a sale and leaseback basis, and that it would seek to sell a 49% stake to a third-party investor for around AUD 1 billion. After incorporating fiscal 2019 guidance of at least 10% growth in hospital operating EBITDA and adjusting for the sale and leaseback of property assets, our fair value estimate of AUD 2.40 is unchanged. As such, we consider shares slightly undervalued at current levels.

Mercury NZ Limited (MCY) - Record Hydro Generation Leads to Record Earnings for Mercury in FY18

Analyst Note-Narrow-moat-rated Mercury NZ's underlying EBITDA increased 7% to NZD 561 million, 1% above our forecast, as heavy rainfall pushed hydroelectric generation 24% above an average year. But favourable weather won't last. Fiscal 2019 guidance is for EBITDA to fall 8% to NZD 515 million, broadly in line with expectations, as rainfall reverts to more normal levels. The firm opted not to pay a special dividend as it refocuses on investing in growth projects. Guidance is for dividends of NZD 15.5 cents per share in 2019, representing a reasonable yield of 4.5% fully imputed. We remain comfortable with our existing NZD 3.60 fair value estimate, while our Australian valuation falls 3% to AUD 3.25 on currency weakness. At current prices, the stock is mildly undervalued.

Fiscal 2018 underlying net profit after tax, or NPAT, increased 13% to NZD 198 million. We forecast NPAT falls 13% to NZD 173 million in 2019. The main headwinds being lower hydroelectric output and a higher debt balance, partly offset by expensive interest rate hedges rolling off and an earnings contribution from the recently acquired stake in Tilt Renewables. Fiscal 2019 EBITDA guidance assumes hydroelectric generation remains 5% above average, after a good start to the fiscal year. We estimate full reversion to mean rainfall would knock another NZD 10 million-plus off guidance.

Putting aside unpredictable weather, the outlook appears sanguine. We take comfort in nationwide electricity demand improving 1.3% after normalising for temperature, led by the residential and dairy sectors. The Tiwai Point aluminium smelter's decision to increase production should add another 1% to annual electricity demand. Wholesale electricity prices are elevated and volatile, which bodes well for gentailer earnings. The main negative remains intense retail competition, evidenced by Mercury's customer numbers falling 1% in fiscal 2018.

Monadelphous Group Limited (MND) - Monadelphous Meets Fiscal 2018 Earnings Expectations and Sees More Infrastructure in its Future.

Analyst Note—Our AUD 10.50 fair value for no-moat Monadelphous stands. The company reported fiscal 2018 NPAT of AUD 71.5 million, only marginally below our AUD 72.7 million expectations. Our long-term assumptions remain substantially unchanged. An element of the result that did surprise was its being achieved on higher than anticipated revenue, up 41% to AUD 1.78 billion. But this was negated by a commensurate increase in operating costs, EBITDA margin falling 120 basis points to 6.6%, and 60 basis points below our 7.2% forecast. We don't see long-term consequence and our midcycle EBITDA margin assumption remains 7.6%. The market appears little perturbed either, the shares up some 6% to around AUD 15.80 upon release of the result, and considerably overvalued in our opinion. We think too much is anticipated from resources and Australia's east coast construction boom. Disappointment could be met in share price retreat.

Our fair value estimate equates to a 2023 EV/EBITDA multiple of 7.5. But the market is valuing Monadelphous on a 2023 EV/EBITDA of 11.3, a P/E of 22, and a price/cashflow of 12.8, discounted at WACC. Our forecast for a near 5.0% fully franked yield from fiscal 2019 (based on current share price) has some appeal, though on a high plus 80% payout ratio. Yield notwithstanding, we think the price still too generous implying an unrealistic five-year revenue CAGR of 3.2% at a midcycle EBITDA margin of 11.4%, versus 7.6% actual for the three years to fiscal 2018, and our 7.6% forecast.

Monadelphous says there is strong demand for its services in resources and energy and there is a surge in oil and gas construction revenue. This is at odds with published data showing total Australian energy capital expenditure changed little in fiscal 2018 at approximately AUD 26 billion, before an expected precipitous fall in fiscal 2019. And after more than five years' construction, the Ichthys LNG project—a revenue insulating core for Monadelphous—began production in July.

Mortgage Choice Limited (MOC) - Mortgage Choice Resets and Moves on Despite Increasing Industry Headwinds. FVE of AUD 1.70 Unchanged

Analyst Note-No-moat-rated broker, Mortgage Choice is at the cross roads and has reset the business model to cope with a rapidly changing operating environment. The pre-released AUD 23.4 million fiscal 2018 cash NPAT increased 3% on fiscal 2017 and was driven by a 1.5% increase in net commission income to AUD 60 million and a 1.4% decline in operational expenses to AUD 35 million. The finally fully franked dividend of AUD 9 cents per share took total dividends to AUD 18 cents per share, 3% higher than a year ago based on a 96% payout. Our fair value is unchanged at AUD 1.70 and the stock is trading broadly in line with our valuation.

Following the result, we maintain our fiscal 2019 cash NPAT forecast of AUD 16.6 million and full-year dividend of AUD 13 cents per share, underpinned by the newly introduced franchise payout and reduced operating expenses, broadly in line with profit guidance. We continue to forecast a subdued medium-term outlook for Mortgage Choice and expect no growth in EPS in fiscal 2020 and fiscal 2021, before some modest improvement in fiscal 2022 and fiscal 2023 on the back a stabilisation in the new lending volumes and increased contribution from trail commission as average loan lengthens.

The mortgage broking industry has been hit with a wide range of regulatory, government and independent inquiries as well as the Royal Commission into Misconduct in the Banking, Superannuation and Financial Services industry. Future changes to industry structure will impact the broker's earnings and valuation, but at this stage, uncertainty prevails. We expect some industry clarity by mid- to late-2019 following the government response to any recommendations made by the Royal Commission. The Commission's final report is due to the government in February 2019.

Super Retail Group Limited (SUL) - Half of Super Retail Group's Businesses Facing More Competition Than the Market Appreciates

Analyst Note-No-moat-rated Super Retail Group's underlying net profit after tax of AUD 145 million beat our estimate by 6%, largely driven by a stronger outdoor segment. The EBIT contribution from the newly acquired Macpac business even surpassed management's expectations in the first three months of ownership. The results of the company's two key segments accounting for almost 90% of group EBIT, auto and sports, were broadly in line with our expectations. Our long-term sales growth and EBIT margin forecasts for the individual segments are substantially unchanged. However, we lift our fair value estimate by 4% to AUD 7.50 per share, reflecting the time value of money.

The group is the market leader in all three retailing categories and is positioned to consolidate and expand the respective markets. However, we expect competition to remain fierce in the outdoor segment and to increase in the sports segment. We view the auto segment as more insulated, especially against the rising tide of online competition. The market is potentially underestimating the threats from traditional physical store chains expanding, as well as online. Capitalising on the migration of consumers to the online channel, Super Retail Group is quickly increasing its online sales capability in all three segments. Online sales penetration is improving, but this comes at a cost, both in capital expenditure shifting from new store rollouts to boost omnichannel capabilities, and in higher expenses in fulfilling online orders for delivery. In this context, we also forecast smaller store networks than the group's aspirational five-year targets.

Shares are materially overvalued at current prices, trading at a price/earnings ratio of 13, which is too high considering the headwinds and our estimate EPS CAGR of only 3.5% over the next five years. On a payout ratio of 66%, the shares trade at a 5% dividend yield, which we anticipate will be fully franked.

Seven West Media Limited (SWM) - Sunrise for Seven

Analyst Note—We lift our fair value estimate on Seven West Media by 6% to AUD 0.70 per share. This is the first upgrade in recent memory, reflecting not only the 3% beat on fiscal 2018 EBIT (down 10% to AUD 236 million versus our AUD 229 million forecast), but also the strong earnings guidance. Indeed, management's projected fiscal 2019 EBIT growth of 5% to 10% has led to an average 10% increase to our medium-term operating earnings forecasts, providing the foundation for our intrinsic assessment uplift.

The expected return to profit growth in fiscal 2019, after six straight years of decline, is underpinned by a confluence of factors. The recovery in the TV advertising market (up 2.5% in fiscal 2018, 3.8% in the June-half) is likely to continue in fiscal 2019, by 2.0% on our forecast. This will coincide with Seven's resurgent TV ratings which achieved a record 41.6% commercial share in the June-half, driving our forecast 39.3% share of the TV advertising market for Seven in fiscal 2019 (up from 38.1% in fiscal 2018). All this will be augmented by continuing benefits of the current cost-out program, one that resulted in an AUD 21 million saving in fiscal 2018 and is projected for a further AUD 10 to 20 million in fiscal 2019.

Still, we are not convinced the strength of no-moat-rated Seven's near-term outlook justifies the doubling of its stock price since April this year. The 52% premium at which the shares are trading relative to our AUD 0.70 fair value estimate appears to incorporate anticipation of corporate activity, amidst consolidation currently under way post the recent media reform. Management did little to quell such thinking, trumpeting its desire to deepen a relationship with entities such as News Corporation—a sure-fire way to keep the mergers and acquisitions proponents occupied. We reiterate that our intrinsic assessment is based on Seven as a stand-alone entity, and is predicated on our view of Seven's sustainable, midcycle TV revenue share and margins.

Virtus Health Limited (VRT) - Virtus Health Faces Domestic Challenges by Growing Offshore

Analyst Note-No-moat Virtus Health reported results broadly in line with expectations after a challenging second half that was marred by market share losses in the price-sensitive markets of Queensland and Tasmania, offset by growing contribution from burgeoning offshore operations now in four countries. Reported net profit after tax of AUD 30.8 million on group revenue of AUD 262.1 million, up 2% and 9%, respectively, tracked our forecast of AUD 31.7 million and AUD 266 million, respectively. We are maintaining our fair value estimate at AUD 6.35 per share, which implies shares are undervalued at current levels.

Australian IVF performance remains mixed, with the disruptive impact of Primary Health Care leading to market share declines in price-sensitive Queensland and Tasmania, offset by growth in key markets of NSW and Victoria. Total IVF cycle numbers in fiscal 2018 declined by 3.4% to 15,235 cycles for Virtus Health. At a product level, Virtus' full service activity declined by 2.5%, with its low-cost offering, TFC, also declining by 9.2%. However, the firm enjoyed a 70-basis-point increase in EBITDA margin to 30.7%, stemming from a 2.9% increase in average total revenue per cycle, coupled with disciplined cost control and restructuring initiatives, mostly in Virtus' Victorian operations.

Oil Search Limited (OSH) - Oil Search Navigates Impactful 1H2018 Earthquake with Earnings to Recover in 2H

Analyst Note-We make no change to our AUD 6.00 fair value estimate for no-moat Oil Search. The company reported a 39% decline in first-half fiscal 2018 NPAT to USD 79 million, close to expectations, featuring earnings impacts from the PNG earthquake. At AUD 9.00, no-moat Oil Search shares remain materially overvalued, but we think the market is insufficiently accounting for risks. A lower than expected USD 2 cent interim dividend was a surprise, a payout of just 38% of already quake-impacted earnings, the board presumably watching the balance sheet. Net debt is USD 3.18 billion, following first-quarter acquisition of Alaska Slope for USD 416 million, and Oil Search must prepare for intended expansionary expenditure at PNG LNG.

Annualised first-half net debt/EBITDA is a hefty 4.5. We expect this to improve to 3.0 by year's end, though that's still high for a company potentially heading into expenditure. We consequently assume just one additional 3.7Mtpa LNG train, rather than taking-on Oil Search's more aggressive 8.0Mtpa expansion aspirations via three new 2.7Mtpa trains. However, we don't think the fair value is materially different under either scenario. We expect greater capital efficiency under our lesser capacity increase, leveraging off existing tankage and wharfage, with more infrastructure needing to be duplicated under a larger expansion. Material synergies decline under the three train scenario, and that before potential for application of a more punitive discount rate due to excessive debt. We admit Oil Search seems wedded to the three train LNG concept with joint venture alignment being achieved in first-quarter 2018.

First-half group sales volumes fell 30% to 9.8 million barrels of oil equivalent, or mboe, following the magnitude 7.5 quake. Higher realised average pricing, up 20% to USD 58 per boe, was a useful partial offset. Unit costs increased 65% to USD 18.70 per boe, reflecting remediation work, make-up LNG cargo purchases, and reprioritised maintenance.

Arena REIT (ARF) - Arena Performing Well but in Line with Expectations. Securities Remain Undervalued.

Analyst Note-No-moat-rated Arena REIT continues to traverse the turbulent child care sector well and the 6.5% increase in earnings per security, or EPS, in fiscal 2018 is in line with both our forecasts and management's guidance. We have maintained our fair value estimate of AUD 2.50 and, at the current market price of AUD 2.21, continue to believe the securities are undervalued. Our fiscal 2019 distribution forecast implies a 6.3% increase versus fiscal 2018 which is in line with management's new guidance. The market price implies a fiscal 2019 price/distributable earnings, or P/E, ratio of 16, versus 18 at our fair value, and a distribution yield of 6.1%, versus 5.4% at our fair value. As a trust, Arena's distributions are unfranked.

We were particularly intrigued that Arena's child care centre tenants managed to increase fees by 5% in fiscal 2018, which drove like-for-like revenue growth of 2% and EBITDA growth of 5%, despite a fall in their occupancy rates. Arena management also said they'd noticed a growing confidence from operators that the expected long-term positive benefits from the introduction of the child care subsidy would be felt earlier than previously expected. This contrasts with the market view that child care centre oversupply will impact operator's earnings, as implied by the relatively low earnings multiples on which child care centre operators trade. However, it is in line with our view that the introduction of the child care subsidy, or CCS, in July 2018 will benefit most child care customers and provide a significant boost to the sector.

Scentre Group (SCG) - Still No Sign of Kick in Consumer Spending in the Scentre; FVE Unchanged at AUD 3.85

Analyst Note-Scentre Group reported first-half fiscal 2018 funds from operations, or FFO, of AUD 12.38 cents per security, up 3% on the prior corresponding period. Distribution growth was lower at 2% to AUD 11.08 cents per security for the half as Scentre retains more cash to help fund developments. Our fair value estimate is unchanged at AUD 3.85. At current levels Scentre screens as fairly valued, with the guided 2018 distribution of AUD 22.16 cents per security representing a yield of 5.3%. Forecast revisions are minor, including slightly raised expectations for redevelopment projects at Eastgardens in inner Sydney for AUD 720 million.

Specialty sales remain sluggish, with sales for retailers under 400 square metres up 0.9% for the year. This is in sharp contrast to the 3.6% growth reported for specialties over 400 sqm. We see the divergence being mostly due to sales cannibalisation of smaller fashion retailers by low-cost international giants like H&M, Zara, and Uniqlo. The unresolved challenge is how to level the playing field with the larger-format retailers, which can negotiate better rental deals by reason of their scale and ability to lure foot traffic to the mall.

Sales performance has slightly improved over the past six months, with trailing six-month sales for all specialty (under and over 400 sqm) up 2.1% versus trailing 12-month sales growth of 1.6%. We had expected a stronger showing from the specialty retailers across Scentre's portfolio, given low unemployment and management's efforts to remix to more contemporary categories.
